The Ballyloch Stories are based around the clients of the fictitious Ballyloch Riding School, near the non-fictitious city of Cork, Ireland. The author's intention was not to write 'horsey stories' but to write stories about the lives of the people connected to a riding school. While all of the stories have a strong horse theme, some of them are more horsey than others. In 'Never Trust a Dealer,' feisty Liz O'Brien, owner of Ballyloch Riding School, shows her mettle when an old 'friend' comes looking for more than he is due.
