Whispers The Wind

The wind whispered to me,
A bitter sweet melody.
About a love that would be mine,
But that would soon leave me behind.

One day in May she came to me,
Like an April shower warm and free.
And brightened up my somber days,
Like the morning sun, with golden rays.

Eight months by my side she did abide,
And filled my days and nights with glee.
But like a ship foundering in the tide,
In December she took her leave of me.

I went to visit her today,
And brought her flowers in the rain.
My heart remained there where she lays,
And the wind whispered to me her name.

Take flight with these dazzling persona poems telling the stories of daredevil pilots in the early days of aviation—from the author of American Yard.

Daredevil pilots Lincoln Beachey, Betty Scott, Harriet Quimby, Ruth Law, Ormer Locklear, Bessie Coleman, and Clyde Pangborn fly at carnival altitudes to thrill millions of spectators who have never seen an airplane. In a lyrical sequence of persona poems, the pilots in Exuberance wonder how the experience of moving through the air will transform life on the ground. They learn to name the clouds, size up the winds, mix an Aviation Cocktail, perform a strange field landing, and make an emergency jump.

“Intoxicated with the history of aviation, Dolores Hayden has written a work of historical imagination that is vocally energetic, psychologically acute, and musically sophisticated. . . . The movement between lyrical speech and historical reflection gives us not only a portrait of the early years of the twentieth century, but a book in which technological advance is given a profoundly human voice.” —Tom Sleight, poet, dramatist, essayist, author of House of Fact, House of Ruin

“Exuberance is the word for this expansive and exciting collection, and also the word for the vanished earliest days of aviation it evokes, when flying was entertainment and adventure, not everyday transportation. Hayden brings to life a rollicking cast of birdmen and birdwomen, showmen and stunt pilots, producers and profiteers—and their entranced audiences and riders too. . . . Hayden’s lush and energetic poems give us earthbound readers, used to shuttling from airport to airport, a sense of what that intoxication must have felt like.” —Katha Pollitt, poet and columnist, author of The Mind-Body Problem
